

Katherine Magee (MBA, ACC) is the principal of The Magee Resource Group Inc., founded in 2006 to help organizations and leaders achieve success by translating business objectives into tangible realities. Katherine’s expertise is in strategic planning, leadership coaching and facilitation.

Prior to launching The Magee Resource Group, Katherine was VP-Marketing (Canada) at Franklin Templeton Investments where she was responsible for national marketing, including: marketing strategies for multiple lines of business; developing and implementing positioning and strategies for multiple brands; and leading multi-departmental groups in product and program development.

Before joining Franklin Templeton (after obtaining her MBA from Rotman School of Management), she was Director – Corporate Affairs for Koala Beverages Ltd., a publicly-held company in Vancouver, where she was responsible for investor relations, corporation communications and human resources.

Since 2010, Katherine has been a part-time lecturer in Strategy at Rotman (University of Toronto). She has been recognized with Excellence in Teaching awards in 2011, 2013, 2015 - 2018.

Katherine is a Founding Board Member of Trade+Impact Association, a global trade association focused on breaking barriers for women-led social enterprises in natural cosmetics & crafts in Africa and the Middle East. She is also on the board of the Canadian African Business Women’s Alliance (CAABWA) and part of the Advisory Board for Impact Consulting (Rotman).

In addition to her ACC designation with the International Coaching Federation, Katherine also completed “Foundations in Business Coaching” with The Adler School in 2011 and “Leaders Coaching Leaders” through the Niagara Institute in 2004.

Having worked extensively in both the Vancouver and Toronto business communities, Katherine has also lived, travelled and worked in Africa, Latin America, Europe and Asia.
